

OSF rises to the top at industry awards night

20 October 2010

The Commonwealth Bank Group's employee super fund, the Officers' Superannuation Fund (OSF), has been named "SuperRatings' Rising Star 2011" at the eighth annual SuperRatings fund of the year awards dinner in Melbourne last week.

Out of a field of more than 350 super funds Australia wide, the OSF was recognised for its significant member services enhancements over the past 12 months.

Jeff Bresnahan, Managing Director, SuperRatings says that the awards recognise true market leaders. "Our awards seek to recognise funds that have genuinely provided services and/or financial benefits well ahead of the average fund in this very crowded market."

Doug Carmichael, CEO of the OSF says that a significant collaborative effort is behind the Fund's ongoing success.

"These awards are truly a result of a great team effort and we could not have won without significant contributions and assistance from everyone involved with the Fund, including our strategic business partners Colonial First State and CommInsure," Doug says.

Neil Cochrane, Chairman, OSF Trustee says that the Fund's latest accolade cements its position as a consistent industry performer.

"We've always been proud of the results that the OSF has delivered for members. To have the Fund's performance recognised within the superannuation industry is a great reward for the OSF, the Commonwealth Bank Group and most importantly, our members," he says.

In addition to taking home the coveted Rising Star award, the OSF also won all three awards on offer for the best five year returns for diversified investment options — an unprecedented clean sweep of this category

"Delivering strong and consistent returns for our members is always at the heart of our investment strategies. Over five years to June 2010, our default Mix 70 investment option outperformed the average super fund by 2.4%pa. On a $10,000 account balance, this means around $1,400 more in returns for OSF members," Gerard Parlevliet, Chief Investment Officer, OSF Trustee says.
